

Township Forced To Correct Lake Levels

Johnstown Township in Polk County has been bristling over resetting a culver that was incorrectly installed in 1996 and currently keeping Pipe Lake waters below levels approved by the DNR. "We have received a large number of public comments...the town will need to excavate and reset the culvert...failure to rectify could result in enforcement action" are excerpts from a DNR letter to the town chairman. Thanks to member Pinky Johnson for keeping us up-to-date with the recent developments.
